

Scholastic Honors Convocation

Faculty Cup

The Columbus State University Faculty Cup, awarded annually at the Scholastic Honors Convocation, is the highest award granted to a Columbus State student who has earned 96 or more semester credit hours toward a baccalaureate degree at the time of nomination. The student should have graduated at the end of the previous fall semester, or should be a candidate to graduate in the upcoming spring or summer term. The student should be at least in the second year of residence at Columbus State. The award signifies superior academic achievement, participation in university organizations, leadership, service to others, and potential for future achievement. The Scholastic Honors Committee is responsible for the selection of the recipient, based upon the nominations by the university faculty.

Educator of the Year Award

This award is presented by the Student Government Association to recognize and promote teaching excellence among the faculty of the university. Awardees are nominated by students and evaluated on the basis of knowledge, consistency, dependability and creativity. The winner will be recognized at the annual Scholastic Honors Convocation ceremony and will be presented with an official Educator of the Year medallion and a financial award of $1,500.
