
Advising Registration Maintenance

Please be advised that the website is currently down for maintenance. During this time, your advisor will be sending you the necessary link through email to schedule a meeting.

We appreciate your understanding and patience and apologize for any inconvenience this may cause. Please keep an eye on your inbox for further instructions.

Faculty advising will begin on March 3. Faculty will start sending out emails at that time with further instructions and scheduling detail.

If you need to have your advising hold temporarily removed in order to make changes to your current schedule, please send an email to academic_advising@columbusstate.edu with your request. Be sure to include your full name, student ID, and a brief description of the changes you need to make.

Once the hold is removed, you will be able to make the necessary adjustments to your schedule. The hold will automatically be reinstated after 24-48 hours.
