

Math Open House

By Allen Horne/Ledger-Enquirer

Where do math teachers learn all that stuff? Those teaching mathematics to sixth- through 12th-graders in the Columbus region can pick up pointers about making math interesting to their students at the Columbus Regional Mathematics Collaborative at Columbus College. On Friday, Auburn University education students Lisa Ray, Mary Catherine Garrett and Rebecca Hanson talk to Ruby Tucker, right, at the math center's open house.