Program Highlights Your Academic Experience

- In-depth study of American government, global politics, public policy, and political theory.
- Internship opportunities with government agencies, political campaigns, and nonprofits.
- Be taught by faculty experts in law, international relations, and political behavior.
- Prepares you for graduate school, law school, or public service careers.
- Opportunities to join Model UN and the Pre-Law Society.

The Political Science department, along with the Honors College, taught me how to do rigorous research and worked with me to get two peer-reviewed research papers published (one of them was even after I graduated). The combination of skills and experience from these departments was the reason I was hired into the career I aspired for, before I even earned my diploma.
