Computer Science

Contract	Term	Course	Contract Title	Contract Description
319040	Spring 2016	CPSC-3175	Using Object Oriented Design Principals to Run Simulations	will use Object Oriented Design principals in order to build a framework for running simulations. Due to the nature of Object Oriented Design, it is possible to build this framework and then use this to expand the scope of the simulation from small scale, to large scale simulations.