Contract	Term	Course	Contract Title	Contract Description
335112	Spring 2017	HIST 3555	Cohabitation in the Early Islamic Empire	This project will entail the completion of a 14-20 page historical research paper on religious cohabitation within the early Islamic empire. The paper will follow the format of an in-depth historical analysis, containing an introduction, historiography, methodology, and primary source analysis with assistance from secondary source material.
333081	Spring 2017	HIST 5195U	European Historiography	This project will entail the completion of a 12-15 page historiographical analysis paper as well as a lead discussion during one class period. These requirements follow those outlined in the graduate syllabus.
335081	Spring 2017	HIST 5559U	Displaying History: A Look into Everyday Life during Reconstruction	This project will involve visiting the CSU Archives and examining documents which date back to the age of Reconstruction, the period following the Civil War between 1865 and 1877. My overall goal is to choose documents which showcase what ordinary life was like during Reconstruction in the South, from who attended church to what Columbus would have looked like during this time. I will then be displaying these documents in the CSU Archives and providing information cards and posters to supplement the presented material.
