Contract #	Term	Course	Contract Title	Description
403083	Fall 2018	ENGL 3171	Travel Magazine	For my Honors contract, I wanted to choose a project based on my career goals and the classes that I am taking currently that would allow me to practice the skills needed in the industry that I want to go into. I would like to be a writer or editor for a travel, adventure, or cultural magazine, specifically national geographic. I have determined that I would like to write, design, and print my own travel magazine. I can do so using the InDesign skills learned in Professor Rendleman's class, along with other various supplemental learning. I am also employing the guidance of Professor Joe Miller with the actual article content creation. It will be the length of an average travel magazine, with a variety of different articles and other various aspects of a magazine. The magazine will be aesthetically appealing, easily read, and exhibit the skills needed in order to perform layout tasks in InDesign.
404090	Fall 2018	ENGL 5744U	Wollstonecraft through Frankenstein	I will analyze the elements of Mary Wollstonecraft's "Vindication of the Rights of Women" and its influence on themes within Mary Shelley's "Frankenstein." This modifies the course's mid term paper, adding a research element and an additional text outside of the syllabus.
