| 417084 | Spring 2019 | EDCI 555U | Environmental Modifications in Special Education Schools in the United States vs. England | I will investigate the environmental modifications made for students in the special education academy in Columbus, Georgia. I will also investigate environmental modifications made for students in a special education academy in Reading, England. Specific elements I will focus on include such environmental modifications as type, volume, and frequency of music played; the smells and lighting levels in the work and study areas; the temperature and humidity levels of the classrooms; the positive (or negative) social interactions between students as well as between students and teachers; and the seating arrangements for the students. I will present my findings in a written paper. |
