

Basic Camp Cadets Forms

Students attending Basic Camp need to complete and submit these forms before arrival. Basic Camp is a paid summer program that lets you earn credit for the first two years of Army ROTC, so you can enter the Advanced Course with at least two years remaining in your degree. If you have at least two full years remaining in your college career, you can choose to attend a summer program called ROTC Basic Camp. Basic Camp's primary target audience is the Lateral Entry Cadet and the freshman Cadet. Lateral Entry Cadets typically decide to join ROTC in their sophomore year of college, thus require Basic Camp to learn what normal-progression Cadets have learned in their first two years of military science classes, during their freshman and sophomore years of Army ROTC. By completing the Basic Camp, students earn credit for the first two years of Army ROTC. This enables them to enter directly into the ROTC Advanced Course and earn a commission as an officer in the Army, Army Reserve or Army National Guard upon completing their degree
