

Counseling Exit Exam Requirements

The COUN 6000 Exit Exam

Exit Examination The Exit Exam portion of COUN 6000 (no credit) is a holistic means of monitoring the progress and development of counselors-in-training throughout the duration of their graduate degree program with an emphasis on student learning objectives throughout the curriculum. Content is found in each course in the curriculum. The Counselor Education program is now using the Counselor Preparation Comprehensive Examination (CPCE) that assesses knowledge that aligns with CACREP's eight core curricular areas. This exam is scheduled during the COUN 6000 course at the end of your program.

Benefits of Using the CPCE

Allows Master's program comprehensive exams to better meet psychometric standards. Gives programs an objective view of the knowledge level of their students. Allows programs to examine student functioning in various curricular areas. Promotes longitudinal self-study. Compares a program's results to national data. Stimulates student integration of knowledge learned in separate courses. Gives students comparative strength / weakness feedback. Please note CPCE is NOT a licensure exam.

Development of the CPCE

The CPCE is researched, developed, and distributed by both the Research and Assessment Corporation for Counseling (RACC) and the Center for Credentialing and Education (CCE), two affiliate corporations of the National Board for Certified Counselors (NBCC). The item writing committee was selected from master's and doctoral level professionals. The committee compiled a comprehensive listing of texts used in counselor education programs. Each question was developed based on information found in the most commonly used textbooks.

Content of the CPCE

The CPCE covers the eight Council for Accreditation of Counseling and Related Educational Programs (CACREP) common-core areas as defined by their Standards for Preparation: Human growth and development – studies that provide an understanding of the nature and needs of individuals at all developmental levels. Social and cultural foundations – studies that provide an understanding of issues and trends in a multicultural and diverse society. Helping relationships – studies that provide an understanding of counseling and consultation processes. Group work – studies that provide an understanding of group development, dynamics, counseling theories, group counseling methods and skills, and other group work approaches. Career and lifestyle development – studies that provide an understanding of career development and related life factors. Appraisal – studies that provide an understanding of individual and group approaches to assessment and evaluation. Research and program evaluation – studies that provide an understanding of types of research methods, basic statistics, and ethical and legal considerations in research. Professional orientation and ethics – studies that provide an understanding of all aspects of professional functioning including history, roles, organizational structures, ethics, standards, and credentialing. These eight core areas serve as the primary theoretical basis for the examination. It is through these areas that the CPCE is associated with accepted professional standards.

Format of the CPCE

The CPCE consists of 160 items with 20 items per CACREP area. Of the 20 items per section, 17 will be scored; the remaining three will be pretest items that are not identified to the student. The purpose of imbedded pre-testing is to generate actual score performance data on items. This allows CCE to select items for future test construction that have the most desirable psychometric attributes. Scores for each section and a total score will be reported for each student. The CCE will provide statistics on the program's students as well as national data. A demographic questionnaire will be included on the answer sheet for research purposes. Students are allowed four hours to complete the examination. After each examination, upon obtaining the results from the CPCE office, we will contact students by mail of their grade results.

Failure of the Exam

It is recommended that students take the exam within two (2) weeks of completion of their course work. Students who fail the exam must take it again following semester in order to graduate. A subsequent failure will postpone graduation. Students who fail the exam three (3) times should consult with their advisor to discuss a remedial plan in order to graduate. The CPCE national norms are used to determine the minimum passing score. The minimum passing score varies each year and is based on one standard deviation below the national mean.

Eligibility and Registration for the CPCE

In order to be eligible for the comprehensive examination, students must have completed all the core courses and be a student in good standing.
